Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 24 October 2005.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1,2,6-8,13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 1852883 (Gustaveson).

Gustaveson teaches a shoe comprising an outsole (1,3), an upper (2) combined with said outsole to form a single unit, a removable footbed (4), a plurality of channels (5-9) and a plurality of notches (10) in communication with the channels to provide ventilation for the shoe.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-5,9,16 and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gustaveson '883 in view of US 4888887 (Solow).

Gustaveson teaches a shoe as claimed (see the rejection above) except for a through hole and filter on the side of the outsole. Solow teaches a shoe having a ventilation system including a plurality of channels in the outsole (8,9) wherein the channels are in communication with a through hole on the side of the sole, the hole can include a flap (27) which functions as a filter inasmuch as it blocks the dirt, mud and water from entering the shoe; see col. 5, lines 35-37. It would have been to provide the outsole of Gustaveson with a through hole and filter on the side of the outsole in communication with the channels, as taught by Solow, to facilitate ventilating the shoe. Regarding claim 9, element 6' best shown in figure show a hole extending to the outer surface of the footbed (4).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed October 24, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Gustaveson teaches an upper and outsole being two separate units and therefore do not disclose a single unit.

In response, the outsole and the upper are separate units until stitching combines them. All footwear in the final product are a single unit. As noted in the last office action, "if applicant were to further limit the claim to include the upper and the sole to be a one-piece unit this change would not appear to make the claim allowable inasmuch as it is old and conventional in the art to construct the upper and the sole in a one-piece unit". Bold face added.

Applicant argues that the outsole of Gustaveson doesn't have any notches in the top surface.

To the contrary the outsole of Gustaveson consist of (sole bottom 1 and bottom tread member 3). Tread member 3 has the notches as noted in the rejection above. Outsole can comprise of more than one piece. Outsoles often include a midsole and an outersole.

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Conclusion

7. Applicant is duly reminded that a complete response must satisfy the requirements of 37 C.F. R. 1.111, including:

-“The reply must present arguments pointing out the specific distinctions believed to render the claims, including any newly presented claims, patentable over any applied references.”

-“A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references does not comply with the requirements of this section.”

-Moreover, “The prompt development of a clear issue requires that the replies of the applicant meet the objections to and rejections of the claims.

Applicant should also specifically point out the support for any amendments made to the disclosure. See MPEP 2163.06" MPEP 714.02. The "disclosure" includes the claims, the specification and the drawings.
